¹ Aleo, Grady, Lachelier, Leavitt and Stokes were unopposed in the primary and therefore received half of the statutory allotment.

² OCPF decertified Collamore as a Clean Elections participant on Sept. 26, 2002. He was ordered to return the $16,200 received for the primary plus interest and ruled ineligible to receive general election funds. Collamore subsequently appealed the decision in Superior Court.

⁴ Petersen and Story were certified as participants but did not apply for any public funds for the primary or general elections.
